This course focuses on the analysis of the legal grounds for malpractice litigation and professional responsibilities in four critical areas of social work/mental health practice:

1. Suicide Risk Management—it outlines standard of care and negligence issues.
2. Violence Risk Management—clinicians and agencies' duties to protect clients and others.
3. Boundary Issues—it discusses the nature and the legal hazards of dual and multiple relationships in professional settings.
4. Defamation of Clients and Others through improper documentations and comments—it presents the legal basis of slander and libel claims
